The Legendary and "Grace Personified" Fanny Krieger!

In Memory of Fanny Krieger

There are people in this world who leave a mark not by being loud, but by being steady, kind, and deeply present.

Fanny Krieger was one of those people.

She gave so much to the world of fly fishing—especially to women and young anglers—always with a quiet strength and a way of making everyone feel welcome. She had a gift for meeting people right where they were, and gently showing them what was possible.

Years ago, I had the chance to stand beside her, teaching and sharing this sport we both love. And at one point, I told her something that I had been thinking for a long time:

"You are grace personified."

She smiled, in that way she did—humble, warm, and completely herself.

That's how I'll remember her.

Her legacy lives on in every person she encouraged, every cast she helped shape, and every moment she made someone feel like they belonged on the water.

With gratitude and respect,
Lori-Ann

Long Tall Sally

There's something about Patagonia that stays with you.

Maybe it's the rhythm of the river...

the quiet between casts...

or the way time seems to stretch just enough for you to remember who you are.

Our recent Reel Women Patagonia trip was filled with all of it—laughter echoing off canyon walls,

new skills hard-earned and celebrated,
and that unmistakable feeling of being exactly where you're meant to be.

We watched each other grow—
as anglers, yes...
but more importantly, as women reconnecting with something deeper.

Confidence.

Joy.

Purpose.

These trips have a way of doing that.

And while the waders are hung up (for now),
the stories, the friendships, and the spark... they linger.

If something in you is stirring—even just a little—
I hope you listen.

There's always another river.

Another cast.

Another chance to step into something meaningful.
