

Life on the fly.....by Lori-Ann Murphy

Field trips for fun fishing often come together from noticing the road along the way. After landing a few nice bonefish we stopped for lunch on Caye Caulker. We decided to see what our neighbor island was up to and see if we could find any sea horses - which have their own sanctuary on Caye Caulker. The sea horses were hiding but we did find some good margaritas looking for them! And you just gotta love Belize for sharing the love.

It's been a busy week at RWFFA headquarters. We are starting the year planning for new trips and schools as we see our current schedule filling up! I'm excited to see so many of you this summer on our trips. The plan is to buy a new truck (way overdue), attach my camper, and follow our trips from great river to great river! It is heartwarming that fly fishing is growing. This simply means that more and more people will find the pure joy of casting a flyrod and watching their line fly out! Or one might find themselves hypnotized from the perfect drift of their dry fly in a river they have dreamed of fishing. Just knowing that when skill and luck come together, a connection to a very special fish has a chance of happening. Simply being there and letting nature take over is found in the sparkle of eyes that tell the tale. These are great reasons to find fly fishing and to share.

So as you make your fly fishing plans we hope you find a very special trip or school from our fishing trip" is really the best medicine. Cast and sing. L-A

The Snake River in Idaho & Wyoming -New RWFFA Trip for 2021!

August 9-12, 2021

We're excited about this trip! The South Fork of the Snake River has a population of well over 4,000 fish per mile, wild cutthroats averaging 14"-16" as well as rainbows and hybrids. Then there are the Browns that average much larger -occasionally more than 10 pounds. The Idaho State record brown trout weighed in at 26 pounds!

We will spend two days fishing the stretch between Conant and Byington in Idaho with the guides and crew from Three Rivers Ranch. You will be well taken care of in the canyon that evening. Glamping with Three Rivers Ranch offers luxurious accommodations, amazing meals and the wildlife never disappoints! Deer, Elk, Moose, and an amazing number of birds make regular appearances.

Then we will drive over to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, and spend two days fishing with guides from Snake River Angler. One day south of Jackson in the Bridger Teton National Forest and another floating and fishing through Grand Teton National Park! We'll be staying at the Cowboy Village in Jackson.

This trip is an amazing flyfishing getaway and the experience in this part of the country leaves you feeling relaxed and refreshed. Find more details here!
