

Life on the Fly...

by Lori-Ann Murphy

Renewal. That's my word for this week as we wind down from our RWFFA Women's Guide School. Six women ages 70's to 24 all showed up to find skills and so much more. This is such a heart warming experience for me - a lot of work, but worth every moment! We discussed how our women guide schools really has become a grass roots experience - getting more women, slowly and steadily out teaching, rowing and sharing their heart, soul and vision.

We took some time off to sort out the summers explosion in fly fishing. Whoa. Everyone is out of the house and on the road to explore rivers and fish. We now have aquatic hatches and a full on people hatch! This summer's fun is just getting going.

The fly fishing lifestyle is what is being shared. One with changes and miracles. Plans have a way of growing into new plans. As I contemplate the next day from my camp on the Madison River - I know I'm right where I want to be - my place, providing world class fly fishing with a ton of experience behind me, and so much more to learn from each of you. Thank you for participating in this remarkable journey. Fish on!
