Fly Fishing Adventures

Life on the Fly By Lori-Ann Murphy

A Natural Perspective.

I'm a sucker for faces living behind fur, feathers and fins. These living companions no nothing of TV news - but they do pay astute attention to their environment for which food and play get to be determined.

We had 2.8 inches of rain yesterday on Ambergris Caye and expected to have 5.3 by tomorrow. Hurricane Eta is now a tropical storm headed to Belize after punishing the coast of Nicaragua and Honduras. The face of this weather created some havoc that's for sure. Still some of us went out to play to find what was out there. I met a new fishing friend on the beach this week. There we were, standing on soaked sand looking at a blown out Caribbean Sea playing with our cast. Still fun. Every fury, feathered and fined creature was hiding, but still fun.

I'm so excited to greet our Women's Permit Quest next week. They are pumped and so am I. I'm pretty sure the fishing is going to be off the charts. We'll be sure to keep everyone posted. In the meantime, I hope all of you are finding something silly to do in nature. A natural perspective always makes sense. L-A

Paradise Valley, Montana The Yellowstone River

Yep, another bucket list fly-fishing destination. There is just something about Montana that reaches your soul and helps you find peace at the core of life. The Yellowstone is over 700 miles in its entirety but the 100 miles that runs between the Gallatin and northern Absorka mountains is the most popular flyfishing stretch. Paradise Valley sits just north of Yellowstone National Park where the river flows over those famous 109 and 308 foot drops called Upper and Lower Yellowstone Falls. The entire region is home to elk, deer, eagles, buffalo, brown and black bear and of course, big Brown Trout and the native Yellowstone Cutthroat trout!

We have a few spots left in 2021 on two amazing trips on the famous 100 miles of the Yellowstone River. If you've got a small group who would like to see this iconic river we'd be happy to put together a custom trip for you too.

Womens Yellowstone Trip September 18-22, 2021 or September 17-21, 2022

Fall in Montana is spectacular and we'll have prime hopper season to chase those big brown trout! You'll have a blast with hopppers or streamers this time of year. There are many stretches of the Yellowstone near our lodging that are on the bucket list and a very short driving distance. We'll use the advice of our local guides for daily selections and there will be plenty of shots at big trout! Four nights and three days guided fishing in Big Sky Country. Single Occupancy $2,995

Couples Yellowstone Trip

September 25-30, 2021 or September 24-28, 2022

So many of our return clients request a trip where their significant other can join them! So, we're launching a Yellowstone River trip and a saltwater couples trip each year. The Yellowstone River in Montana's Big Sky Country is a special place to be, and a fabulous fishery for big Brown Trout! Streamers, hoppers and other big terrestrials are what those big Browns want in September. We'll spend five nights in a beautiful Montana lodge, have three days guided fishing from drift boats and one day of exploration. You can easily wade and fish another day. Yellowstone National Park, Grand Teton National Park, Chico Hot Springs and many other attractions are close by and a great way to get some time together and relax away from home! $2,995 Double Occupancy

Permit Quest November.....Last Minute Opening!

November 14-20, 2020

Price Slashed from $3,295 to $2,200

Fishing in Belize is amazing right now. The pressure has been off of the fish since the borders closed last spring and the first anglers on the water are seeing amazing conditions. Not likely we'll see this opportunity again in our lifetime!

Palometa or Permit are one of the most elusive fish- and landing one is something anglers put great effort into pursuing. Belize has a large population of Permit and we regularly see schools on the flats around Ambergris Caye as well as singles tailing. Combine these odds with daily clinics from Lori-Ann and our phenomenal English speaking guide team... ..join us to land your Permit!

Five days of guided fishing and six nights (single occupancy) will introduce you to other fly fishing fanatical women who love the sport. This is an amazing deal for some lucky woman who wants to land a Permit....or a Grand Slam!
